

SEPTEMBER STORIES 2025

Namaste.

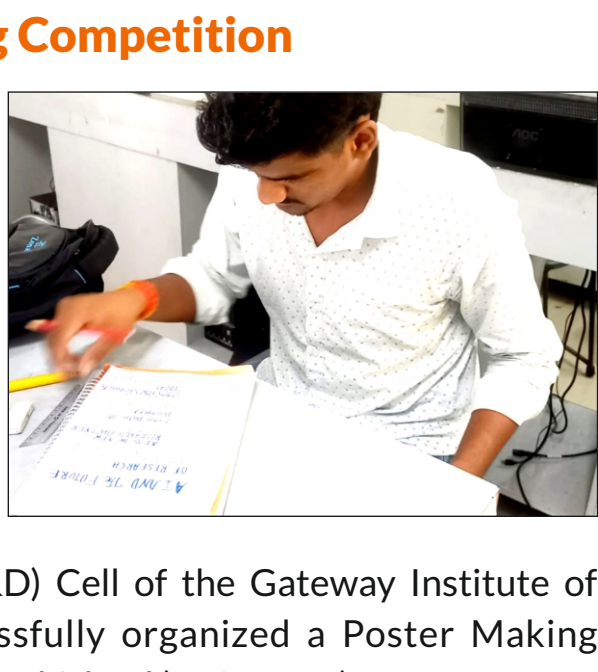

September drapes the world in quiet transformation, a gentle shift from the fullness of summer to the introspection of autumn. The days grow softer, touched by golden light that slants lower in the sky, casting long, thoughtful shadows. There is a hushed beauty in the air—as if nature itself pauses to exhale. Trees begin to blush with the first hints of crimson and amber, while the fields, once vibrant with growth, begin to rest under the memory of harvest. September holds a kind of serene wisdom—neither the bright energy of summer nor the stillness of winter, but a sacred in-between, where everything begins to turn inward, preparing for the quiet seasons ahead.
